BNSSG Primary Care Training Hub

Building the workforce, leadership and learning infrastructure that helps general practice deliver neighbourhood health

Our role in neighbourhoods

Workforce transformation and innovation

Supporting our workforce to work effectively as multidisciplinary neighbourhood teams, and enabling the development of new roles and integrated ways of working

Partnership, collaboration and coordination

Representing workforce development needs and bringing partners together to drive shared solutions

Equality, diversity, inclusion and belonging

Creating equitable opportunities for learning and facilitating the development of a diverse workforce that reflects the communities it serves

Multi-professional education and training

Providing access to high-quality learning and career development opportunities for all roles, widening participation and creating a sustainable neighbourhood workforce

Workforce planning and intelligence

Working with practices and PCNs to understand current and future needs, using workforce data, modelling and insights to enable neighbourhood workforce planning

Expanding placement capacity

Working with education and system partners to increase high-quality placement opportunities and develop the future neighbourhood workforce

Learning quality and environment

Building educator and supervisor capability to create high-quality learning environments and support learners across neighbourhood settings

Explore learning opportunities to support general practice and PCNs to deliver neighbourhood health, including:

- Leading in a PCN
- Influencing and negotiation
- Change and service improvement
- Strategic leadership
- Project and programme delivery
- Building partnerships across organisations
- Workforce transformation and role design
- Population health and integrated care
- Leading in complex systems
- Collaborative leadership

Explore all development opportunities on the Training Hub website

How the Training Hub can support you

Whether you're exploring neighbourhood working, developing your workforce, strengthening leadership, planning for future workforce needs or creating new learning opportunities, the Training Hub can help.

Get in touch to discuss your priorities and how we can work with your practice, PCN or neighbourhood team.

Email: bnssg.training.hub@nhs.net

Visit our neighbourhoods webpage to learn more