First Contact Practice (FCP) Update

For FCPs and Practice Management staff

News | NHSE confirm new arrangements re. how FCPs should demonstrate that they meet the requirements of the FCP Roadmap

NHS England (NHSE) have agreed several changes to the arrangements by which First Contact Practitioners (FCPs) should demonstrate that they meet FCP Roadmap requirements. Not all are listed here - for the full update, please click Read More on p. 10 - but below is the majority of the update to give an idea of changes moving forward.

(Please note: a regional statement from Lily Dixon (FCP Education Lead, South West Primary Care Academy) will be released in due course, outlining what this means for the south west specifically.)

Significantly, NHSE confirm that additional formal recognition is no longer required in addition to evidence compiled by learners to complete the FCP Roadmap. Successful completion of the relevant FCP Roadmap is instead demonstrated through:

- A completed Roadmap to Practice checklist - the template for this can be found in section 9.4 of the appropriate Roadmap. It will be signed and dated by the FCP and their supervisor when each component of Stages 1 & 2 are completed.
- Certificates of completed Stage 1 e-Learning modules.

This item continues overleaf, on p. 10

- Evidence of Stages 1 & 2 completion - for more information on this, please click Read More below.

OR

- The FCP may have completed a course provided by a university, whereby both Stages 1 & 2 were successfully completed - if so, then evidence of successful completion of both Stages 1 & 2, and your portfolio, as described above, will suffice.

FCP digital badges will also not be required. When practitioners work in a FCP role, they will have already shared the documentation referred to above with their employer. As a registrant, they should continue to update their portfolio as required and will have all the evidence that an employer may ask for in completing the appropriate FCP Roadmap.

If an individual doesn't have evidence of successful completion of the appropriate FCP Roadmap, as described above, then further support is available from several Education Providers.

In response to feedback, NHSE has commissioned several Education Providers to support with appropriate training where necessary, too. In this vein, they've identified other Education Providers to provide Stage 1 & 2 taught routes. The FCP web pages will contain details of relevant programmes, and individuals are encouraged to contact one of the providers directly.

For the full update, please click Read More below.

If you have any immediate questions or concerns, please contact
Lily Dixon at lily.dixon2@nhs.net.

Continuing Professional Development (CPD)

For all Allied Health Professionals & Support Workers

Provided by the NHS England workforce, training & education directorate for 2024

The BNSSG Training Hub has been reviewing the remaining Continuing Professional Development (CPD) allocation which needs to be utilised in the financial year 2023/2024. We appreciate system pressures may be inhibiting individuals to access CPD however if this funding is not spent by the end of the financial year it will need to be returned to NHS England (NHSE) and will be lost.

This funding is allocated by NHS England for professional's personal development budget. It is calculated using the data that you have reported on the National Workforce Reporting Service (NWRS). The funding allocation is £333.33 and we do not have access to funding beyond this amount. You may wish to apply for educational grants from other organisations if the cost of your course exceeds the allocation.

The funding can be used for any accredited or non-accredited professional development. This can include virtual & face to face training, events, conferences, university & other Higher Education Institute (HEI) modules. The education needs to be relevant to the role and in line with the needs of the practice/PCN. Please note you should not utilise CPD funding for statutory & mandatory training or backfill of staff.

New Government Call for Evidence for Separate Pay Spine for Nurses

For all Staff

Let your voices be heard!

In May 2023, the government agreed a deal for the AfC workforce through the NHS Staff Council. During negotiations, concerns were raised about how the AfC pay structure is affecting the career progression and professional development of nurses, and the direct impact that this is having on recruitment and retention. The Royal College of Nursing (RCN) suggested that a separate pay spine for nursing staff could address these concerns.

The government published a press release to explore these specific concerns, to understand the benefits and challenges of a separate nursing pay spine, and to explore other potential approaches to addressing any issues identified. This exploration does not form part of the AfC deal that was agreed with the NHS Staff Council. This call for evidence is open to everyone. You can respond on behalf of an organisation, as an individual member of the health and care workforce, and as an individual that is not a member of the health and care workforce.

It is important we engage and utilise this opportunity to feedback, giving voice to the impact this could have on registered Health Care Professions, our collective workforce and individuals, regardless of various union perspectives yet to unfold.
